

WILSON ACTS IN GOETHALS SHIP DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The Denman-Goethals wooden or steel steamship embargo loomed a critical stage today.

President Wilson considered the situation sufficiently serious to call Chairman William Denman to the White House for personal conference.

General Goethals tried to get a hearing from the President today also but previous engagements took up the latter's schedule.

The government will fix prices paid for steel used in constructing America's food fleet. On the heels of reports that steel companies have boosted prices and plan to make enormous steel profits on contracts with the government, it was learned today that any such move will be met with a sharp check.

Reports of threatened high prices in steel for the government grew out of tentative agreements reached between General Goethals and steel concerns for certain contracts for ships. These contracts provided that the government pay approximately $33 a ton for steel plates, while the navy is paying only about $20 a ton.

Goethals explained the situation, however, today as follows:

The government is paying 4 1/2 cents a pound for steel plates and 3 1/2 for steel shapes was one previously reached by a Los Angeles firm with a steel company at Birmingham, Ala. The figures were taken merely as a working basis for other construction plans, but no other contracts have been let on that basis.

"If the tentative agreement to furnish steel at 4 1/2 cents for plates and 3 1/2 cents for shapes is found by the committee to be too high, the figures will be reduced in the contract. If it is found too low, we will pay the difference."

Regarding the charge that the prices quoted are more than those paid by the navy for steel, General Goethals stated that the navy is securing steel now at figures contracted for in 1916—approximately $25 a ton less than those now quoted.

Additional contracts for 10 complete steel cargo-carrying steamships and 20 wooden hulls have been let by the United States Shipping Board. It was officially announced today. The total number of contracts to date for the emergency fleet to cope with the submarine menace call for twenty-eight complete steel ships, thirty-two composite ships of wood and steel, thirty complete wooden ships and forty-eight wooden hulls.

William Denman, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, announced that he has refused to approve contracts for steel ships made by General George W. Goethals, general manager of the emergency fleet corporation. He said that the price for steel is an extortionate price for the navy to pay, when the navy is able to buy it for $25.

This is the first open break between Denman and Goethals since the shipbuilding quarrel began to come to a head a week or more ago. Various predictions are made tonight regarding the widening of the breach.

Denman's announcement brings the crisis in the affairs of the shipping board and emergency fleet corporation to a head.

U-boat sinkings for the past week would average a total of nine million tons loss annually, Denman said today following his conference with the President.

"The most serious thing," said Denman, "and the most important news is the mounting of figures on sinkings of British ships. The decrease in the sinkings the last two weeks in May evidently showed Germany has recalled her submarines to prepare them for expected sailings of American troop ships. Sinkings are again on the increase."

"We cannot manufacture more than six million tons in eighteen months. It is time the nation was awakened and made alive to the urgency of the situation. We are building ships as fast as we can, and we wish to do it as cheaply as possible."

EXPERTS TESTIFY IN MOONEY CASE

Identified bits of metal as component parts of an alarm clock, Attorney Maxwell McNutt, for the defense, took him in hand. He was asked a point-blank question as to how many parts composed a clock. He declared there were eight wheels, three hands, two main springs, a main spring, a face, a back, a dial, two winders and two set screws. There was also a bell and a ring at the top and that was all he could think of.

He identified two winders presented by General Oyster Company, and William Fennessy, a police officer, identified bits of metal picked up within a half hour after the explosion. When Fennessy concluded one of the jurors, Orlando Bozio, inquired whether or not the metal was hot when the officer found it. Fennessy could not remember exactly, but did not think so.

INVESTIGATE BITS.
The bits of metal, which are now being picked up near the scene of the bomb explosion as being part of a suitcase.

Chris Knudsen, a clerk for the Pacific Oyster Company, and William Fennessy, a police officer, identified bits of metal picked up within a half hour after the explosion. When Fennessy concluded one of the jurors, Orlando Bozio, inquired whether or not the metal was hot when the officer found it. Fennessy could not remember exactly, but did not think so.

U-BOAT TOLL
SHOWN IN TABLE

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The German submarine toll of British shipping since February 17, as shown in official British figures compiled here today, is 22 vessels of more than 1600 tons and 135 of less than 1600 tons.

Records for sailing fishing vessels are incomplete, but a three weeks' total was 73.

Submarines in the period given attacked 293 ships unsuccessfully and the weekly percentage of unsuccessful attacks has ranged from 151 to 7. During the last week given—the seven days ending with June 9—it was 38.

Arrivals and sailings in British ports since the intensive submarine campaign began have averaged about 2500, but these include channel sailings.

The British figures do not give the average of vessels sunk, but officials here say 5000 tons probably would be a fair average for vessels of more than 1600 tons destroyed. Computing the total at that average and putting the average of the smaller ships at 1000 tons, the total loss during slightly less than four months' submarine warfare would reach 1,765,000 tons, or about 250,000 tons less than the entire world's shipping output during 1916.

TWO COUNTIES
BOND TOTAL IS
SUM OF $8,955,650

Final figures compiled today by the Liberty Loan Committee, shows the contributions of Alameda and Contra Costa counties to be $136,650 more than the total of the subscriptions in the two counties.

The additional subscriptions are $26,450 from the First National Bank in San Leandro, $20,000 from the Marine Bank in Alameda, and $10,000 from the Contra Costa National Bank of Oakland.

The latter sum comprising the subscriptions of the Southern Pacific employees on this side of the bay.

MURDER CHAIN TO BE SOUGHT

BULLETIN.
WASHINGTON, June 18.—The State Department today called for the provisional arrest of Alfredo Cocchi, alleged slayer of Ruth Cruger, New York, and that additional evidence had been obtained against him and that formal extradition papers would be sent. The department assumes that his request will be granted, though Cocchi is now living in the United States. He is believed to be in Italy before he is returned to this country.

BY UNITED PRESS.
NEW YORK, June 18.—The grand jury this afternoon returned an indictment charging Alfredo Cocchi with the murder of Ruth Cruger, 18-year-old high school girl who disappeared three months ago, and whose body was found buried beneath Cocchi's bicycle repair shop here Saturday.

Three official investigations, one by the police, one by the district attorney's office and one by the coroner, delved toward the bottom of one of the most revolting crimes that has ever shocked New York.

The wife and two friends of the missing Italian were held in heavy bail and thirty-six witnesses were rounded up to appear before the grand jury probe of the case today.

The state department has cabled Italian authorities to hold Cocchi. Mrs. Grace Humiston, the woman, lawyer, whose shrewdness led to the finding of Ruth Cruger's body, hinted at an organized gang of criminals, and declared she knows the location of twenty-two other cellars where high school girls have been lured.

SHAKEUP EXPECTED.
This statement, promise of a shakeup in the police department, equal to that following Police Lieut. Becker's conviction for the murder of Herman Rosenthal and the district attorney's statement that he has sufficient evidence upon which to try Cocchi, were swift developments in the case.

"There are little, harmless looking shops scattered all around some of the high schools and public schools," said Mrs. Humiston.

"Loungeurs of the most depraved type infest these places and watch the girls going to and from school. When a girl enters one of the shops the door is closed and she is taken to a room. There are no windows and the girls are held there just as hideous as the one Cocchi hurried away to Italy from. But if I told names and locations before my evidence is complete, the criminals I want would get away."

"New York does not yet realize how systematized is the danger for the girls who live in it."

"The police readily says, when a girl disappears, it was as much her fault as the man's. I know better."

KEEP SECRETS.
"When a girl is insulted in one of these places she usually broods over the horror of the situation and tells her parents, for she feels she is partly to blame. Little by little they batter down her moral stamina and soon another girl is 'missing.'"

"With the right sort of assistance I could tell you the names of all the girls who have disappeared every month in the year."

"Probably Ruth on her visits to the shop or while passing it, attracted the attention of one of the men. I think there had been speculation and plans about her."

Needles, in Peril, Fights
River Rise

NEEDLES. June 18.—With the crest of the flood in the Colorado river not yet arrived here today, Needles continues her battle against destruction.

But a few more inches of water will send the water rushing through the heart of Needles, swirling through the mill-dam, and sweeping away the mill-dam, the Santa Fe Extension, industrial property and round houses and shops. Already the Santa Fe has begun raising its tracks to attempt to save its rail service from a long lie-up.

Big breaks in the banks of the Colorado are spreading, and the water, inundated areas have extended until the north side looks like a great lake. The flood situation is at its most critical stage today. Augmented forces are working like mad to avert the dread of death to avert the impending disaster. Terrific heat hampers the work and men drop from heat prostration every hour. The homeless are increasing in numbers as the days of the flood lengthen.

A climax in the flood is expected at any time.

COUNTRESS TAKES MINISTRY; FIRST WOMAN TO SERVE

PETROGRAD, June 18.—In a workman's blouse and leather skirt Countess Sophie Panin appeared to take up the post of assistant minister of social institutions in the new government. She is the first woman of state with the function of administering the charitable and social institutions and also the care of children.

The Countess is the world's first woman minister. She is 45 years of age and very wealthy. She resides in a palace which she transformed into a people's house, a combination of recreation place and popular university.

In a statement to The Associated Press she declared that her staff of officials will consist for the most part of women. She hopes that her appointment will be the signal for a transfer of social institutions in other countries into the hands of women.

WHAT'S HIS DUTY?
Is a policeman justified in exercising his authority and office in the law in administering punishment to a suspected person while he is off duty? That is the question which Commissioner of Public Health and Safety F. F. Jackson is called upon to answer in the case of Patrolman J. F. McCarthy.

This officer of the police force returned home early in the morning and discovered, he declares, his wife in company with Archie Little, a boarder. Just what transpired has not been made known as yet, but Little was admitted to the Emergency Hospital shortly thereafter suffering from the effects of a severe beating.

The officer was reported to Chief of Police W. P. Peterson, who laid the case before Commissioner Jackson without comment or recommendation. Little, who is a bartender by occupation, has recovered sufficiently to be removed from the hospital.

GERMAN-BORN IN U. S. ARE 2,349,000

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The natives of Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey now residing in the United States aggregate approximately 4,662,000, or 4 1/2 per cent of the total population of the country.

The foregoing total is cancelled by Director Sam L. Rogers of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, as the result of a calculation based on the census figures of 1910, the reports of the Bureau of Immigration for the period between 1910 and the present time, and the estimated mortality during that period. Although it is not possible by this method to determine with absolute exactness the number of natives of the countries named now living in the United States, it is believed that the results obtained represent a reasonably close approximation to the facts.

DISTRIBUTION GIVEN.
These 4,662,000 foreigners are distributed, according to country of birth as follows:

Austria	2,349,000
Hungary	1,376,000
Turkey	735,000
Bulgaria	188,000
Germany	11,000

It is impossible to say whether the proportion of aliens—that is, persons who have not applied for naturalization certificates—among these foreigners are approximately the same in 1917 as they were in 1910; but, assuming this to be the case, the proportion of male aliens 21 years of age and over included in the above total would be approximately 964,000, or about 3.2 per cent of the total number of male inhabitants of the United States 21 years of age and over.

GERMAN PROPORTION LOW.
The distribution of these aliens, according to country of birth, would be as follows:

Germany	138,000
Austria	447,000
Hungary	230,000
Turkey	93,000
Bulgaria	8,000

The proportion of aliens among male Germans 21 years of age and over is very much smaller than the proportion of male aliens among the other countries named, having been only a little more than 11 per cent in 1910, as against approximately 63 per cent for Austrians, 74 per cent for Hungarians, 82 per cent for Turks and nearly 90 per cent for Bulgarians.

Moners of the United States will present themselves in the confident hope that the Russian government and people will realize now sincerely the United States hope for their welfare and desires to share with them in their future endeavors to bring victory to the cause of democracy and human liberty.

PETROGRAD, June 17 (via London, June 18).—The members of the Root commission attended a service in the imperial chapel of the Winter Palace today and afterward made a tour of the gigantic building, much of which is a military hospital. Root and his associates talked with wounded soldiers and nurses, inspected the painting and sculpture of the imperial galleries and passing hundreds of peasants who were being shown through the palace, hitherto closed to the public.

The extreme democracy and orderliness of the Russian government was shown by the lack of precaution to guard the art treasures of the palace.

The former emperor's private apartments were opened for public inspection. Crowds passed quietly through the rooms where Alexander II expired from the effects of a bomb explosion, leaving untouched the personal belongings of the former emperor, which have not been disturbed since his death.

Admiral Glennon and his aides will leave Petrograd tonight for Sebastopol, accompanied by Russian officers, to visit the lack Sea fleet.

MUSICIAN WEDS

Miss Charlotte Isabelle Gooch, East Oakland musician, was quietly married yesterday to Henry G. Wulbern of Placerville, Merced county, a wealthy rancher of that section. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Van Every, United Presbyterian minister. The attendants were Frank E. Roderick and Miss Edna M. West. After a brief honeymoon at Placerville, the young couple will take up their residence on Wulbern's ranch. Both bride and groom are well known in Oakland.

HELD TO ANSWER.
George W. Batzfelder, who is accused by the police of having forged fifteen checks on Oakland merchants, was today held to answer to the Superior Court by Police Judge George Samuels, who fixed bail at $2000.

Was a sight. So bad could not shave. Skin very red and sore. Some nights did not sleep on account of itching. Used a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Ointment and was completely healed.

Cuticura Soap, to cleanse, purify and beautify, Cuticura Ointment to soften, soothe and heal, have been most successful in the severest forms of skin and scalp troubles, but greater still is what they have done in preserving clear skins, preventing pimples and good hair as well as in preventing skin troubles becoming great ones. This has been brought about by using no other soap for toilet purposes than Cuticura. It is ideal for the complexion because so delicate, creamy and fragrant.

"Big Drive" Is Started to Raise Fund For Red Cross

Team Captains Named for Task of Getting
Oakland's Quota During the Week

over by June 25. The time is short. This is a good thing. If we had too much time we would be apt to put it off too long."

Capwell then introduced A. B. C. Dohrman, who, according to telegraphic instructions received from Lyman L. Pierce, executive head of the Red Cross War Council, jointly with Albert Ehrgott of Berkeley, was to represent him in the work. Dohrman made a brief talk, outlining the scope of the Red Cross work and giving some idea of the magnitude of the task which this country faces along humanitarian lines. He said:

"The Red Cross is part of the United States government and is not an individual organization. The President of the United States is the head of it and every dollar that goes through its hands is audited by the department and is subjected to a close scrutiny. Owing to its international character it is recognized by all sides in the war and is the only organization so recognized."

TO CENTRALIZE EFFORTS.
The reason for this Red Cross week is to secure a centralization of effort along the lines of relief work. As Herbert Hoover has expressed it: "Every country at war has gone through an era of multiplied and disintegrated effort. The general principle must be that the Red Cross must be centralized and through executive control to eliminate turmoil and waste." In our country, during the Spanish-American war, the women of this country worked their fingers making cholera bandages. They made so many that the bandages were used to clean guns while the soldiers were offering for surgical bandages and medical supplies.

"The President of the United States in a number of speeches and letters has put the seal of his approval upon the work which the Red Cross is doing. This organization of the American Red Cross is facing today the greatest test in its history. The organization of volunteers has never faced in this country. Not only must it furnish doctors, nurses and hospital equipment for the American troops, but for the allies as well. The allies are exhausted. They are without doctors, nurses, bandages, hospital equipment, medicine to meet conditions."

"Some idea of the enormous quantities of the supplies needed may be gathered when it is known that more than 1,000,000 wounded men passed through the hospitals in three days last month. Hundreds of ambulances are needed. You cannot send too many. The average ambulance lasts only 4 to 6 months. Six complete base hospital units have been sent over to France, with 1500 men and women. You will have to send at least fifty and perhaps more. This is for war relief only. The civilian relief, for women and children and the work of the Red Cross in caring for dependent families of our boys in the fighting zone is another problem."

MONEY IS NEEDED.
"We have more people than we need. What we need now is money. Every one of you has to use but contribute. We have the ability. This will be remedied in time. But money we must have."

"Toronto, Canada, with a population of only 400,000 persons has bid $2,500,000 for the third year of the war, the year 1917. San Francisco with 500,000 persons is asked for only $1,000,000. Toronto knows what war means, we don't. Montreal Canada, out of a population of 600,000 persons is giving $4,000,000. We need $200,000 from Oakland. Are we going to give it?"

"The Red Cross touches every family in the United States. The man who has felt that he has done his duty when he bought a Liberty Bond, can bring his contribution to the Red Cross work and be glad to get it. Let us

Thanks to a new discovery made from a Japanese product your foot troubles can be quickly ended.

Ice-Mint, as this new preparation is called, is said to survive up hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes so that they can be lifted out easily with the fingers. It's wonderful. Think of it: only a touch or two of Ice-Mint and real foot-joy is yours.

There is not one bit of pain or soreness when applying it or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

If your feet are inclined to swell or puff, if you have cracked or bleeding toes, it will draw the inflammation right out and quickly heal the sore and tender places. It is the greatest secret of the century. Little feet and are greatly appreciated by women who wear high heel shoes and by men who have to stand on their feet all day. Try it. "You couldn't find a better man in this work. In my wide experience I have always found that when you want something done get a busy man. Mr. King is a busy man and is the man for this work. I think this meeting should conscript him and give him no chance for refusal." The chairman called for a rising vote and King was selected by the audience standing.

Announcement of the selection of John D. Holmes of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company as executive secretary for this district was also made.

Among the plans formulated by the general committee are a series of quick way to stop the war. The Red Cross is the heart and the government the brains of the war. We are facing a critical condition and we must face it in a sacrificial mood. Berkeley is going to give $75,000,ameda $75,000 and all Oakland has been asked for is $200,000. Let us not be found wanting."

At the conclusion of the speeches, the selection of division captains and team captains took place. Joseph H. King of the Chamber of Commerce

30,000 PLANES PROGRAM FOR U. S. AIR NAVY

WASHINGTON, June 18.—An American air navy of 30,000 machines is the government's aeroplane program for the first year of the war, it was officially learned today.

Ho : to produce this number of aircraft when the eight small American airplane factories were unable to fill the government's orders last year has been worked out by the aircraft production board of the Council of National Defense, and is now told by the United Press for the first time. The United States will make three main classes of war aeroplanes.

Training planes, bombing machines and observation aircraft.

The speedier allied battle planes will continue to be made almost entirely by France and Great Britain, where this type of machine has already been perfected.

American auto plants in part will be utilized to make the standardized engines for the 30,000 aeroplanes the first year.

WORK FOR FACTORIES.
Furniture factories, typewriter plants and other mills equipped for the work will manufacture the wings and other parts.

These arrangements, already perfected by Chairman Howard Coffin of the board, only await the passage by Congress of the $500,000,000 aviation appropriation to be asked.

Three training schools for aviators for the new air navy are already under construction at Dayton, O.; Chicago, Ill., and Detroit, Mich. Six others and more, if necessary, will be established.

Each aeroplane will cost about $18,000. They will be of the slow type with a speed of from 70 to 100 miles an hour. The battle planes being made in France and Great Britain are capable of a speed of up to 150 miles.

The use of portions of American auto plants in the manufacture of aeroplanes may cut down on the production of pleasure cars, it is regarded as likely by officials.

BACKS AIR FLEET.
In the belief that American air units can do more to turn the scale in Europe, Secretary of War Baker has put all his influence behind the greatest air fleet building program in history.

It was on the evening of Oct. 17, 1908, that the German emperor stood on Bornstedter field and watched the soaring biplane of Orville Wright, the American inventor, conquer the air. It was the kaiser's first sight of such a craft.

The prediction is made today by government officials that "before the year is out the kaiser may once more see the American aeroplane, bristling with defiance, soaring over the fatherland, the signal of defeat for Germany."

Smith was arrested in Carson and is in jail here.

Housewives Are Called To Nation's Aid by Hoover

WAR ON WASTE IN FOOD PLANNED

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Herbert C. Hoover outlined today his plans for enlisting the nation's housewives as actual members of the food administration and appealed to them to join him in the fight for conservation measures and the elimination of waste.

The women will be enrolled during a period of registration from July 1 to July 15 through the Council of National Defense and the state defense councils.

Hoover is proceeding at the direction of President Wilson, who, without waiting for Congress to enact the administration food bills, directed him to proceed with organization of the food administration insofar as it contemplates assembling volunteer effort. Hoover's statement says:

"As requested by the President, we ask every woman in the United States engaged in the personal control of food to register for actual membership in the food administration, thus entering directly into the national service. We shall later on ask various classes of men likewise engaged in food preparation and distribution to also volunteer to the national service in their various branches."

"We must enter a period of sacrifice for our country and for democracy. Many must go into battle, but many can only remain at home. The world's food supply is short, and many must suffer. We have the major burden of feeding the whole world. Food must be managed and transported in our country and to our allies in such a way as to get the most out of it. Those who remain at home also can help and can fight by helping the fighter fight and can serve by saving."

MAY DECIDE WAR.
"Since food will decide the war, each American woman can do a real national service by protecting the food supply of the nation. Ninety per cent of American food consumption passes through the hands of our women. In no other field do small things, when multiplied by one hundred million people, count for so much as in the single pound of bread saved weekly for each person will increase our export surplus of wheat 100,000,000 bushels, and an average saving of 2 cents on each meal every day for each person will save to the nation for war purposes $2,000,000,000 per annum."

"The proper assurance of the food to our allies will not only encourage them, but it will maintain them in war. Without a larger margin from our abundant food supply, only to be secured by individual effort and volunteer sacrifice, the war will be prolonged, and thousands of lives, not only of men, but of women and children, needlessly lost. The guiding hand of women in the home can alone control in this matter."

"Furthermore, this is not alone a war question. The high prices which are bearing so hard on the poor and the more moderate wage earners in this country are partially due to the shortage of supplies in the world's market and the saving in consumption and waste which can be made will lessen the prices to those of our own people, which must be our first objective. In all of the arrangements which we plan to make during the forthcoming year for the supply of our allies, we will bear the first regard to our own people, that they shall have plenty provided that they eat wisely and without waste."

NATIONAL SITUATION.
"All effort at saving must be directed toward the great national and international situation. These efforts must also be made in unison and by all of us. Therefore, the groundwork of direction must be national in character, calculated not only to effect national economy but also to serve the war interests of the country as a whole. These directions will require supplement from time to time, of local character, and we propose in the first instance to send out directions to each member directly, and after legislation is completed and the food administration is erected, to cooperate with the state government by decentralizing administration as far as possible into their hands through the various food committees."

"Inasmuch as before legislation is completed the food administration has no representative throughout the country, the National Council of Defense is kindly requesting all the State Councils of Defense, with the assistance of the women's committees of the National Council of Defense, to undertake the

WOMEN WILL AID PLEDGE IS ASKED

This is the pledge Herbert Hoover, food administrator, will ask of every American housewife:

I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation for our nation and I hereby accept membership in the United States food administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the food administrator in the conduct of my household, insofar as my circumstances will permit."

Registration. This registration will begin July 1, and will continue intensively for fifteen days, and will consist simply in asking every woman in the country to volunteer in this important service by signing and mailing to the food administrator, conservation division, Washington, the following pledge:

"I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation for our nation and I hereby accept membership in the United States food administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the food administrator in the conduct of my household, insofar as my circumstances permit."

"We not only want the name and address but we want the number of persons in the household, we want to know whether the household employs a cook, whether it has a garden and we want to know the occupation of the bread winner. There are no fees or dues to be paid. The food administration wishes now to have members all of those actually handling food in the home."

"On receipt of the pledge we will send out preliminary instructions and a household tag to be hung in the window. The insignia of the food administration will consist of the national shield, surrounded by heads of wheat, and we hope to have the shield displayed on every home in the United States."

"We have the promise of support from many hundreds of women's organizations in the recruiting of our membership, and women's committee plans to take upon themselves much of the responsibility for this work. We feel confident that all women's organizations in the country will fall in with the President's request and actively organize and support our campaign. As time presses we will need all such agencies to have the plans of campaign for pledging with the state councils of defense before July 1."

COMMITTEE ON FOOD.
"With the assistance of various trained women in the country we are formulating committees on democratic economy and from leaders on the subject of nutrition we are arranging committees on food conservation and utilization, and we propose with their advice to furnish information from time to time to the members of administration as to the manner in which they can best serve the national interests in food conservation. We have the general principle of instruction."

"First—To save the wheat. If we eat as usual from our harvest this year we will have little more than enough for our own supply, but we can divide with our allies if each individual makes some sacrifice; by eating at least one wheatless meal a day, substituting cornbread or other cereals."

"Second—We want to save the meat, for our cattle and hogs are decreasing, and we must send to our allies, so we wish every householder to buy less, to serve smaller portions and to allow no waste."

"Third—We wish to save the fats. We consume three times the fats that are necessary for nutrition and we need them now for war. We wish no butter used in cooking; we want less butter served on the table. We want less lard, bacon and other pork products used."

"Fourth—Any deficiencies in food supply, by economy along the above lines, can be amply covered by increasing the use of fish, potatoes, beans, peas, turnips, cabbage and vegetables generally, corn, buckwheat, rye and rice which we will have in abundance this harvest."

SAVE TRANSPORTATION.
"Fifth—We want to save transportation. Our railways are unable to meet the war pressure for munitions, men and coal, so that we wish every one to consume products of local origin so far as possible, to buy from the local miller, the local packer, buy and eat vegetables grown near home."

"Sixth—We preach and want every one to preach 'The gospel of the clean plate'; to buy less foodstuffs, to serve smaller portions, and to see that nothing of value goes into the garbage can."

"Aside from eating an increased proportion of these commodities in order to save on the staples, it is extremely important that any surplus of these commodities shall be preserved or well stored for winter use."

SEEK G. O. P. MAN
SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—That the man who will represent the Pacific Coast on the Interstate Commerce Commission if the bill enlarging that board becomes law, must be a Republican is the opinion expressed today by Seth Mann, who returned last night from Washington. In Mann's absence there had been started a movement here to have him appointed as Pacific Coast Republican member, but he is a Democrat, and says that he is certain that the Democratic member will be appointed from the south.

Mann bases his opinion on the assumption that the commission make up will be kept bipartisan. Four of the present members of the commission are Democrats and three Republican.

"I am not making an canvass for this appointment and do not intend to do so," said Mann.

"Should a Republican be appointed, the three Western men of that party now most strongly considered are Clyde B. Atchison of Oregon, who is now working under the commission at Washington, William E. Wheeler of this state, who is at the capital representing Wyoming oil interests and Max Thelen of the California State Railway Commission."

I. W. W.'S WATCHED
SEATTLE, Wash., June 18.—An armed provost guard from the Puget Sound navy yard is patrolling the southern end of the city today to prevent a recurrence of the Saturday night riot in which 300 soldiers and sailors attempted to storm the I. W. W. headquarters.

Thirty-seven of the fifty-one I. W. W.'s arrested following the shooting of Private W. E. Miller, Third company, C. A. C., from an upstairs window of the hall, were released Sunday because of lack of evidence. Fourteen are being held in jail as slackers and will be turned over to the federal authorities.

WAR AS CLEANSER ON BUNKER HILL BONDS SOUGHT

Asserting that war had put Christianity under fire and would cleanse America of her "legalized sins," Rev. Frank M. Sleser spoke at the First Presbyterian church at the morning service yesterday on "Religion Under Fire."

"Christianity is not on its death-bed," he said. "The war will refine the dross from the national soul. Great sins like the liquor traffic will have to be purged from national life, and the pleasure-seeking spirit that does not hesitate to go on spree while the rest of the world is tragically dying, or in shivering bereavement, will be chastened."

"The war is cleansing France of her free thinking, Germany of her rationalism, England of her ritualism and literalism. It will clear America of her materialism and legalized sins for a triumphant exodus."

BOSTON, June 18.—The British Union Jack was taken up Bunker Hill for the first time today in a military and civic parade commemorating the historic battle between the American Minute Men and the English Red Coats 142 years ago. It fluttered at the head of the Bag Pipe Band of the New Brunswick Kittles Battalion, 236th Canadian Overseas Regiment, on its farewell appearance before returning home after a two weeks' recruiting campaign here.

and the really gracious hearts of Americans given a chance for heroic service and helpful sympathy. The war will not kill Christianity. It is only arranging the choir of nations for a triumphant exodus."

TREASON HINTED

CHICAGO, June 18.—Advertisements by Chicago merchants appeared in morning papers today offering as high as 105 for Liberty Bonds, the value being offered when the sale was made in exchange for merchandise. An even purchase of $100 worth of merchandise could be paid for with a $100 bond, the purchaser receiving $5 in cash in change. The same offer was extended to affect larger and smaller bonds.

ARTIST IS SAVED

SAUSALITO, June 15.—W. A. Coulter, the marine artist, and his son, James, were saved from drowning when a second son, Stewart Coulter, picked them up in a launch after the yacht Glenarm in which they were sailing had capsized off Alcatraz Island.

REJECT PROTEST

BOSTON, June 18.—A resolution sent here by the Central Labor Council of Seattle, Wash., calling on all organized wage earners to demand the repeal of the army draft act and asking that there be no relaxation of the present restrictions on Oriental immigration was promptly and unanimously voted down by the Boston Central Labor Union last night.

TREASON HINTED

NEW YORK, June 18.—Assertion that evidence has been found that strikes in the Alaska copper properties of the Kennecott Copper Corporation were instigated by elements supposedly as a stroke against the military resources of this country was made here today at the office of the company.

PROFESSORS OF U. C. ARE INDIGNANT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—Professors of the University of California who are enrolled at the Presidio officers' training camp, were indignant today over the action of the University regents in discontinuing their university salaries after June 30. This is directly opposite to Stanford's action, that university having maintained its policy of paying the professors' salaries to the end of the fiscal year.

PATIENT WELCOME, AS TO EXPENSE?

All the way from Yreka, which nestles among the redwoods in Siskiyou county, came James Hosking, victim of tuberculosis, to this county this morning to be cured at the Alameda tubercular hospital at Livermore. He appeared before the Board of Supervisors this morning and told them that Dr. Jones, Siskiyou county physician, had sent him to Alameda county with the ultimatum that he be cured here and nowhere else. The supervisors, pleased with the compliment, told Hosking that he could stay here temporarily, but that they were not quite sure whether this county could accept tubercular patients from all over the state and care for them at the expense of local taxpayers.

In the meantime the clerk of the board was instructed to communicate with the northern county with a view to finding out whether it would be willing to pay the expense of Hosking's residence at the Alameda county institution.

This case, according to Supervisor Fred Foss, opens up the question of whether the state should make some provision for the care of tubercular patients at the new tubercular hospital in this county, which is located at Livermore and the fame of which has reached every part of the state.

MORRISON AT ORPHEUM

Over and above the joy of welcoming back Albert Morrison—and it was a real welcome to him that responded with a speech—the success of the play, "Get-Rich-Quick-Wallington" stands out. It is the best that Jane Urban and her players have done and for pleasurable entertainment, is an outstanding event.

Morrison, of course, was Wallington. He took to the part like a boy to knick-knack, and a good "Blackie Daw" was Darnell. The play concerns the visit of these two worthies to the town of Battles, the success of which is in the hands of the residents, and the marvelous experience of having them there upon them. Two love stories work for the reformation and the redemption of the town. Jane Urban and Ruth Saville.

Charles Yule and Ernest Van Pelt are particularly effective as real estate men in operation. Paul Rogers as the hotel clerk who is made into a rich man by Wallington, is given a chance to show his versatility and prove he is a real actor. The play is a masterpiece of comedy and is a real treat for the audience.

SHOWS U-BOAT SECRETS

Submarine warfare in which, by working models, the undersea terrors are seen in operation, is being shown this week at the Pantages. Captain Louis Sorcho, who has 22 years' experience with submarines, was master of the first submarine, and is an expert on submarine warfare. He is now in the Government, showing how it escapes from U-boat attacks and how it escapes from its enemies.

He has gone on tour in vaudeville in order to bring home to Americans the submarine war for steps to combat the U-boat menace. The submarine is seen submerging, discharging its torpedo and firing its deck gun. The audience is shown a representation of one of these only too common sea catastrophes in which a ship is sunk.

"Some Babies" proved a deceptive title for the musical effusion at the Columbia theater last night and the stage, arranged to represent a delicately tinted bouillabaisse, a crumb which contained from one to three infants at various times during the rapid-fire action of the piece.

"Some Babies," written and produced by Lou Jacobs, was replete with features and presented a most impressive and laugh-provoking picture in his presentation of "Ikey Leschinsky," who thinks at all moments that he is a proud father, only to be sadly disappointed in the end.

Reese Gardner was well cast as "George," who is delegated to get the child. Clair Starr was delicious as "Mrs. Leschinsky" and others who were in the cast. The play was a real treat for the audience.

NOT SMILED ON

If the owners of the park site in the center of Thousand Oaks, Berkeley, would give the Board of Supervisors permission to use it for a quarry, the city would be willing to accept the property which has been offered to the city for use as a park, provided the city is willing to maintain it for such a purpose.

This was Kelley's explanation for voting against a resolution providing for the acceptance of the place, which was referred back to the committee of the whole for the third time this morning.

The Board of Supervisors, in the property, have been trying to give it to the city free of all cost, other than an agreement to maintain it, for some time. Kelley and Mullins do not seem very anxious to accept it, and are unwilling to give the city a gift horse in the mouth.

Mullins stated that he "could see no reason why the board should be made the convenience of a real estate man, who was used as a tool to develop surrounding property and then wants to give it to the city to maintain."

Kelley's reason for not voting for the resolution, smilingly giving out, that if the city would accept the property, it would be a real treat for the city. He said that he would be willing to vote for it, but did not think the millionaires residents around it would look with favor upon blighting operations.

LOCAL YOUTH IS KILLED IN FRANCE

BERKELEY, June 18.—Benjamin R. Woodworth, great-grandson of Samuel Woodworth, author of "The Oaken Bucket," and son of the late Benjamin Woodworth, California pioneer and former Alameda, was killed in action in France, according to dispatches received by his aunt, Mrs. S. E. Woodworth, 2232 Prospect avenue, Berkeley.

Woodworth was the son of one of Fresno's pioneer ranchers, who, retiring from farming, made his home in Alameda, and who met his death several years ago when run down by an Alameda local train.

CALL OF LOVE STRONGER THAN THAT OF CHURCH

BERKELEY, June 18.—"It is a question of conscience that he has decided for himself," Bishop William Ford Nichols explains the resignation of Rev. William H. Hynes from the directorship of religious education at St. Mark's Episcopal church in this city.

Rev. Mr. Hynes, who has been divorced on any but the scriptural ground, said Bishop Nichols, "Rev. Mr. Hynes knew this and he reached the conclusion that the honorable thing for him to do was to resign as a member of the staff of St. Mark's church. His resignation was handed to me June 10."

Following their marriage the couple will remove to Colorado. Rev. Mr. Hynes, who now drops out of the church, has secured a position in reclamation work for the government near Denver.

ADVANCE SUIT OF CONDEMNATION

Hearing of the suit brought by the county to secure the right by condemnation proceedings to purchase at the price fixed by a jury of the old California college site, Fourteenth avenue and East Twenty-seventh street, for the new million dollar city hospital, was this morning set for June 26, before Superior Judge William Conley in extra sessions court.

With the advance of the date of the hearing it is expected that by July 1 the action will have been decided and a price fixed by the jury. The county will then have thirty days to pay the money if it is to come from the general fund, and a period of one year if the price is to be raised at the special bond issue election tentatively set for August 14.

The Curious Quest Mr. Ernest Bliss

By
E. Phillips Oppenheim

CHAPTER XXIV.

The Helping Hand.

At 10 o'clock on the following morning Bliss—cost him a half crown—was ushered without announcement into Mr. Montague's private office.

Mr. Montague glanced up, and when he recognized his visitor, showed his teeth. "What do you want here?" he inquired.

Bliss produced a heavy leather whip from his inner pocket. That, also, had cost him half a crown.

"Take up your pen and write what I tell you," he ordered.

"What the devil do you mean, coming into a gentleman's office and—"

Bliss struck the desk in front of him so that the papers rattled.

"Write," he insisted.

Mr. Montague took up his pen.

"Frances Clayton was in my employ—"

Mr. Montague dropped his pen, and a moment later howled with pain as the leather thong struck his knuckles. He stretched out his hand for the bell, but Bliss swiftly removed it from his reach.

"You call for help," he said, "or touch that telephone you'll get the thrashing you deserve. If you write what I tell you, you may escape it."

Mr. Montague opened his lips and closed them.

"Frances Clayton was in my employ for some months," Bliss continued, "as typist. I found her conscientious, capable and intelligent. She left at her own desire."

Mr. Montague wrote as he was bidden and signed his name. Bliss took the sheet of paper from him and folded it.

"Good morning, Mr. Montague!"

"You wait till I get my hand on you, young fellow," Mr. Montague spluttered.

Bliss dangled the whip thoughtfully. He seemed to be still deliberating as to its use.

"You deserve it, you know."

Mr. Montague shrank back. His high color seemed to have become less evident.

Bliss, with a little laugh, turned away. "It's a good whip," he remarked, "good honest leather. I won't spoil it."

He walked out, borrowed an envelope from the young gentleman in charge of the outer office, addressed the reference to Mr. Frances and posted it in the nearest letter box.

Then he made his way to a neighboring labor bureau and wrote down a list of likely places. He spent four hours making applications for the various posts, only to find them either filled or that he himself was unsuitable.

A taxicab driver whom he met in the waiting room of a motor engineer's workshop gave him a few useful hints.

"These labor bureaux," he explained, "are all right for odd jobs of the very roughest sort, but they're no use to us. Take my tip and go to Hill's in Shaftesbury avenue. Kind of a registry office, but they get nearly all the chauffeurs places. It'll cost you a bit, but it's worth it."

Bliss thanked him and walked to Shaftesbury avenue. By the time he had parted with five shillings and discovered that no one wanted a chauffeur, it was nearly 7 o'clock.

He went to his rooms, had a wash and started out to call for Frances. She came from Mr. Montague's office.

"Whatever the meaning of this, I wonder," she asked.

"I got it out of the little brute," Bliss stunted.

She pressed his arm as they walked down the street.

"How did you manage it?"

He told her of his visit in a few sentences. She said very little, but her eyes glowed as she listened.

"And now about yourself?" he went on, changing the subject abruptly. "Any luck today?"

Society

The smart set is going to miss Mrs. John D. Owell during the summer. She left yesterday for her home in Bedford, Oregon, with a party of friends whom she took north with her in her handsome machine. A drive from Oakland to Bedford is quite a simple matter to this expert driver who has claimed automobile honors while others sought for laurels in golf, tennis or the sea. She holds record of having driven more than 100,000 miles, although she has never been tempted to make a continental trip. All her journeyings have been limited to California and Oregon, and she knows the Pacific coast as perfectly as few women motorists do. A flying trip north, a pleasure tour south—to Mrs. Owell, to desire to go is to start. For the past several months she has made her home at the Claremont Hotel and has been much sought after by the local smart set. She is the wife of John Owell, known throughout the country as the apple king of Rogue river district.

Although the "boys in blue" belong to the dead past, the boys in brown are proving just as popular and much of the merrymaking of the coming months will be inspired by the desire to make them happy. A coterie of the artist folk who have beautiful rooms in the Studio in San Francisco are planning something which without doubt will be numbered with the most notable of the complimentary affairs across the bay with the maids and matrons of this shore sharing in the informal and altogether delightful functions. Miss Louise Mahoney, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lintell, George Hyde and Albert Bender are among those who have conceived the splendid notion of making the men in the officers' training camp welcome at least once in every two months for so long a period as the war shall last. Many of the studios have been decorated by the artists who have wandered far afield and these charming places will be pressed into service for the setting. In fact, practically the entire building will be opened to the welcome to the men who have "joined." On each occasion there will be a score of the artist set to assist in receiving at the half-reception.

For afternoon hours and evening hours will be kept with an adjournment between. The order has gone forth that there will be nothing stronger than lemonade served, although there will be quantities of cigarettes, candy, and even coffee. There is an official ban against sandwiches but something will be added to the menu to make up for the omission.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Curtis left yesterday on a delightfully planned summer's outing which will take them to New York. They go first to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, where they will linger a week or ten days before resuming the long journey. The stay in the Atlantic coast metropolis is not to be an extended one, but they will go to Lake Louise for a sojourn of some length. This is one of the very lovely spots in the country and lures the smart set from the nation to the picturesque region during the summer. Curtis is fully recovered from the illness which made him an invalid for some weeks.

The interesting family home which adjoins that of the Ass. L. Whites in East Oakland, will be closed until the early August. The Whites and the Curtis family have been neighbors and friends for years. Mr. and Mrs. White have also shut up their beautiful town house for the summer, going down to Los Gatos where they have one of the show place in that popular district. Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton White have leased a house nearby for the entire season.

Mrs. Wickham Havens has returned from a delightful sojourn at the McCloud Country Club, where each year with her husband she spends several weeks. The McCloud region attracts particularly by its streams and the opportunity for hunting which it affords and has become a mecca for the smart set in this part of the state.

Although the wedding will take place in Los Angeles, the ceremony which makes Miss Dorothy Campbell the bride of Dr. William John Kerr of San Francisco tomorrow will interest many friends in the bay cities. Dr. William Homer Woolsey will be number one with the ushers. Miss Fish has had great difficulty in completing her marriage plans for the men of her family are completely at the service of Uncle Sam, and in her changed the journey of her wedding times. Her brother, who is connected with a medical corps in France, was expected to arrive, but Dr. Kerr in the meantime joined the Medical Reserve Corps and looked forward to his orders.

The ceremony will take place in the West Adams Presbyterian Church with Dr. C. E. Locke reading the rites. In the bridal party will be Mrs. Ruth Locke Thompson, as matron of honor and Miss Emma Bates as maid of honor. Dr. John R. Heflich of San Francisco will be best man. A reception will follow at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Farnum Thayer, before Dr. Kerr and his bride leave on their honeymoon, which will bring them north.

Miss Florence Lundborg, the gifted, sister of Irving Lundborg, whose work has brought her the highest recognition in art circles, is leaving for New York, where she will spend the summer. The charming studio across the bay will be closed for some weeks while its mistress takes a much needed rest.

Friends of Mrs. Lucius Norris are learning of her convalescence after a serious illness. She is again at her handsome Oakland avenue home, after several weeks in a sanitarium. Flowers and notes of cheer are making the days of her recovery seem less long.

Mrs. Guy Lilienkrantz is spending the midyear in Los Angeles where she is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Dennis Diamond. Thorwald Lilienkrantz has chosen to remain on the Lilienkrantz ranch at Aplos for several weeks before going south, where he will remain for a time on the Diamond properties.

Miss Maude Edith Pope and her mother, Mrs. Pope, have closed their El Dorado avenue home for the coming several weeks which they will spend as the house guest of Mrs. Lawrence Adams at her beautiful place in the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. The gardens of the El Dorado home are widely known throughout the state for their wealth of bloom. Particular attention has been paid to the roses with several hundreds of varieties making this season of the year decidedly attractive. Already Mrs. Adams began to entertain at a series of summer house parties, claiming her friends in groups of a score or more. She is one of the most popular of the younger matrons on both sides of the bay.

Mrs. Carrie Sterling was a Saturday hostess, opening her pretty Piedmont home to a group of close friends who were spending the summer at the El Dorado. The guests included Mrs. Mollie Pearson Hales, the gifted Scotch actress. It was an interesting coterie of women who gathered at the simple tea in the sunnier being Mrs. Jean London. Mrs. Sophie Treadwell, Meekham, Miss Blanche Partington, Miss Gertrude Partington, Mrs. Xavier Martinez.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mitchell Porter are spending the summer in the East, where they have a congenial motor party which is en route to the Yosemite for a sojourn of several weeks.

H. D. Curtis, who has important oil interests in the Coalinga fields, where he has been for several years, has come to Oakland to spend the summer and enjoy a rest of several weeks.

Mrs. John Charles Adams and her trio of beautiful daughters were the inspiration for a delightful dinner which had Ada Adams as hostess last week at the Cliff House. Others for whom covers were laid were Bliss Rucker, Lloyd Lomax, Frank Fox, Bradley Parish and one or two others.

A pretty wedding took place in the First Baptist Church in Berkeley on Saturday evening, when Miss Zella Eddy became the bride of Robert McCrea Yelland. Both young people are graduates of the University of California. Mrs. Yelland is a member of the Presbyterian and Big "C" societies. Yelland belongs to the Alpha Zeta honor fraternity. At present he is manager of the C. C. Moore ranch in Shasta county, where he and his wife will establish their home.

In the bridal party on Saturday evening were Mrs. Barnett Lyon, who attended her sister as matron of honor, with Miss Viola Powell, Miss Alice Yelland, Miss Edith Bonchett

Chris Dodgins STORIES

By Howard R. Garis

"What is the matter, Uncle Wiggy?" asked Grandpa Goosey Gander, the goose gentleman, one day as he stopped in front of the soldier tent where the rabbit bunny was learning to be a soldier and fight the mosquitoes in the war. You seen very tired and sleepy, Mr. Longears went on Grandpa Goosey.

"I am," answered Uncle Wiggy, opening wide his mouth to yawn, at the same time making his pink nose twinkle like a dill pickle at a Sunday school picnic. "You see, I have been awake so much nights, standing on guard in the trenches and in front of my tent, so the enemy mosquitoes would not get me, that I can almost go to sleep now standing on my head."

"Why don't you?" asked Grandpa Goosey. "I would look so funny!" Uncle Wiggy answered. "Maybe you can sleep tonight, then," spoke the goose gentleman.

"No, I'm afraid not," Uncle Wiggy replied the bunny rabbit. "I must keep guard tonight, also, for there is no telling when the enemy mosquitoes will come."

"Oh, hum!" exclaimed Grandpa Goosey, sort of flapping one wing carelessly like, "I think I shall find a way so I can get some sleep tonight, Mr. Longears."

"I wish you would," said Uncle Wiggy, this time making his pink nose twinkle like a raisin in a rice pudding, and at the same time stretching his paws sleepily-like. "I certainly would like to get a good night's rest, but still some one must be on guard against the mosquitoes, for that is a soldier's life. Ho! Hum!"

"Some one will be on guard, all right," promised Grandpa Goosey, with that he waddled off toward his own penhouse. Uncle Wiggy kept on marching up and down in front of his tent with his talcum powder bean shooter poggun on his shoulder, learning to be a soldier as he could reach the animal boys what to do in war time, when the mosquitoes are very pestery.

"The soldier Grandpa Goosey Gander, taking a cornmeal sandwich in his pocket, started from his pen in his automobile, made with potato paring seats and asked Grandpa Goosey.

"Where in the world are you going?" asked Grandpa Goosey.

"I am going to stand guard in front of Uncle Wiggy's soldier tent so he can get some sleep," answered Grandpa Goosey.

"I am not fair that he should stay awake every night. I must do my share of guard duty."

"But can you keep awake?" asked Mrs. Goosey.

"Of course I can," hopped Grandpa Gander, as he started his automobile by pulling the only gear that was a handle to make it go. "If I get sleepy I'll just eat my cornmeal sandwich. Uncle Wiggy must get some rest."

So off rode Grandpa Goosey Gander to the trench where Uncle Wiggy was still on guard.

"Now you go right in your hollow stump bungalow and get some sleep, Uncle Wiggy," cheerfully said Grandpa Goosey, as he wheeled his baked apple automobile to the edge of the trench, where the rabbit gentleman hid when the mosquitoes were throwing stones at him going to the guard soldier in your place, Mr. Longears.

"That is very kind of you," said Uncle Wiggy, yawning and yapping. "But are you sure you won't fall asleep?"

"Of course not," cried Grandpa Goosey. "I have a cornmeal sandwich to keep me awake."

"Yes, do come in and get some rest," begged Nurse Jane Furry Wuzzy, the nurse, as she stood in the doorway of the hollow stump bungalow.

So in hopped Uncle Wiggy, and Grandpa Goosey Gander, taking the toothpunch bean-shooter poggun, walked up and down on guard in front of the trench.

"Ah, ha, ha, hum!" exclaimed Grandpa Goosey, buttoning his feather-lined overcoat more closely about him. "I should like to see the mosquito enemy who can fool me!"

Night came, and it was very dark and warm and still. Grandpa Goosey was asleep. "I will never do!" he quacked. "I will eat my cornmeal sandwich and keep awake."

Well, this did keep him awake for a time, but soon he was more sleepy than ever.

"I'll just close my eyes for a second," thought the goose gentleman.

So he leaned back against the trunk of a tree, which was rather soft, and he fell fast asleep. As he was sleeping as sound asleep as was Uncle Wiggy in the hollow stump bungalow.

At last, an enemy mosquito, who was waiting for just this, "Now we can fly over, capture Grandpa Goosey, the tent, Uncle Wiggy, Nurse Jane and the cornmeal sandwich."

He buzzed the mosquitoes from where they were hiding, and straight toward the sleeping Grandpa Goosey.

But did they get him and Uncle Wiggy? They did not.

The first mosquitoes stumbled over the rusted metal automobile and the second gentleman that was tied just outside the soldier tent.

"Bang!" burst the blown-up paper bag on the green pepper steering wheel. "Bang! Bang!" Grandpa Goosey always burst a paper bag to shoot animals out of the way of his auto, instead of blowing a honk-honk horn.

"Oh, my goodness!" cried all the mosquitoes, as they heard the you know, "Grandpa Goosey isn't asleep after all! He is shooting his talcum powder poggun at us!"

Oh! Then the mosquitoes (as I call them for short) flew away, and Uncle Wiggy and Grandpa Goosey slept in peace all the morning, not even a fly bothering them.

And Miss Gertrude Barnett as bridesmaid, Yelland was assisted by his brother, W. R. Yelland, as best man. The ushers were: Rhodora Flint, Henry Crall, Robert Lockhart and Roy Simpson.

Mr. and Mrs. Yelland are spending their honeymoon in the Yosemite Valley.

Why?

When you do not wash your food it is worse to ingest it than when you do. Your stomach may be debilitated, your liver torpid, your bowels constipated, or you may be eating too much. Many people eat more than they should, particularly those of middle age or older, and those of sedentary habits. If your lack of appetite is due to indigestion, or to either of these causes, correct your habits and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets. They will give you a good appetite and make you feel better. For sale by Osgood Bros. Drug Stores—Advertisement.

ELECTRICIANS TO ISOLATE CITY JOIN IN STRIKE FOR VILLA ATTACK

BUTTE, Mont., June 18.—The striking miners of Butte were augmented today by electrical workers striking for increased wages. The men, who quit work, are the construction and repair workmen and until repair are needed by the Montana Power Company against which the strike is directed, its effect will not be felt, according to the company. The Montana Power Company furnishes light and power for Butte industries and also the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad.

F. J. McNulty, international president of the electrical workers, has telegraphed that he is coming to Butte, and he is expected here early this week.

The Metal Mine Workers' Union, which called the strike on the mining companies, reported that its membership list is increasing.

EXCLUSIVE SHOW

NEW YORK, June 18.—The Esquimaux and the MacMillan Arctic expedition's members are going to enjoy an exclusive show today which will be invisible to the rest of the world. The exhibition will consist of a partial eclipse of the sun, the eclipse will be visible only in the North Polar region. A curious feature of this eclipse is that it will actually run over from today to tomorrow, or rather be seen on different days in different places. This is due to its visibility on both sides of the "date line," twelve hours west of the Greenwich meridian, running due north and south through the mid-Pacific.

EL PASO, Texas, June 18.—Francisco Villa has given orders for all railroads connecting Chihuahua City with the outside world to be cut this week in order to isolate the state capital and Torreon, preliminary to making an attack upon those two important cities, a courier who arrived from Villa's headquarters at the Santa Gertrudis ranch, northwest of Santa Rosa, reported last night to Villa's agents here. The attack on Torreon will be made as soon as Canuto Reyes and Marcelo Caraveo, two of Villa's leaders, arrive from southeastern Mexico with their commands, according to announced plan. If the Torreon attack is successful, Villa will advance on Chihuahua City, his agents say.

ROTARIANS MEET

ATLANTA, Ga., June 18.—Atlanta threw wide its gates to visiting Rotarians today. With hundreds of delegates and visitors present for the eighth annual convention of the International Association of Rotary Clubs the "Gate City of the South" spared nothing in its effort to do honor to those present. The convention was called to order by President Louis D. Hicks, who delivered the address of welcome. The response and convening of the convention by President Arch C. Klumph, of the International Association Rotary Clubs followed. Rev. G. Otis Nead, of Roanoke, Va., delivered the invocation, after which the delegates sang the Rotary marching song, "Onward, Sons of Rotary." The president's annual address followed, and all the past presidents and international officers of the association were presented and made one-minute responses.

DIES IN RUNAWAY

SANITARY ROSA, June 18.—Charles Pozzi, wealthy dairy farmer, who lives near here, was killed in a runaway between Bodega and Freestone. When Pozzi's buggy, which was being drawn at high speed by an unmanageable horse, collided with a large stone, he was thrown out. Death was almost instantaneous. Pozzi leaves a widow and several children.

'FOOD SAVING' TO BE SERMON TOPIC

Food conservation will be preached in C-Way pulpits on Sunday, July 1. In response to a request made by Food Dictator Herbert C. Hoover, the attention of householders will be called to the necessity of the most careful supervision of food. Preachers of all denominations are preparing to observe the day and to impress the sinfulness of waste upon the minds of their congregations.

The request for the setting aside of one Sunday for this propaganda is urged in a circular letter sent by Hoover, through the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, to 200,000 clergymen of various faiths. They are asked to call the attention of the people to the necessity for "the largest possible production of food and the smallest possible quantity of waste."

"In such a time as this," writes Hoover, "the people naturally turn to the church for help. It is a calamity to the nation and to the churches if their chosen ministers neglect to exercise their proper leadership in the great cause of feeding a world in need, for the world is in want of food."

Hoover estimates the annual wastage of food at one billion dollars.

ENDS HIS OWN LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—While his wife looked on in terror and three policemen strove vainly to avert the tragedy, Charles O. Hill, a flagman, killed himself with a revolver last night at his home, 1111 Third street. The suicide followed a domestic quarrel and an attempt to kill his wife.

Ursula Hill, the 18-year-old daughter, pluckily telephoned to the police last night, but the rescue of her 32-year-old sister, Lucille, from the danger zone of the armed madman.

Hill came here a week ago from Pomona, where he is employed as a flagman. The police reported that he found that Mrs. Hill had sued him for divorce and since then, according to the police, had annoyed the family.

THIS MEDICINE WOMEN VALUE

Positively Relieves the Suffering.

More Convincing Proof.

When Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was first introduced as a curative for women's troubles, it had to be proved. But the proof came, and gradually the use of it spread over the whole country. Now that hundreds of thousands of women have experienced the most beneficial effects from its use its value has become generally recognized and it is now the standard medicine for women's ills.

The following letter is only one of the thousands on our files.

DENISON, Texas.—"I cannot feel that I have done my duty until I tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered from female troubles so I could hardly drag around and do my work. I was very nervous, and had dizzy spells, heat flashes, and headaches until life was a burden. My husband brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I soon began to improve. I continued its use and am now free from all pains and aches that made life a burden. You may use this letter in any way you like for I want the world to know what a grand medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is."—Mrs. G. O. LOWERY, 911 S. Barrett Ave., Denison, Texas.

NEW FAVORITE IN WOMEN'S TENNIS TOURNAMENT PLAY

Favorites ran fairly true to form, the defeat of Roland Roberts by Byron Batkin being the only surprise. The men's singles of the Pacific Coast Patriotic Tennis tournament at Claremont was won by a team of three players from Los Angeles. The new favorite appeared to share the honors with Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, Helen Baker and Miss Marjorie Vale. Helen Baker was considered the loneliest in the fight for final honors. Miss Myra Erarans is the newcomer from Los Angeles, having been defeated last year by Miss Carmen Tarilton, 8-6, and 4-4 stamping her as one of the most promising players in the key.

Mrs. Wightman won her match in the second round without any trouble, as did Miss Marjorie Vale, Miss Helen Baker, and Miss Myra Erarans. Miss Marjorie Thorne put up a great fight, making the first set go against her, and winning the second set, and the third set, but she lost however, in the fifth set. Miss Baker won the match, 8-6, 4-6 and 6-3.

The women's doubles had little difficulty in winning from J. D. Holmes in the first round, and from Axel Graven, captain of the University of California team, in the second round. Raymond Johnson did not cut much figure in his first set with William Johnston, but in the second set he put up a stubborn fight and Johnston had to fight for every point before he finally took the set 7-5. Byron Barkin won from Roland Roberts, to the first round, 6-4, 10-8, the second set being the hardest fought set of the day's play in the tourney. In the second round he won from Rex Greenberg, 8-2, 6-3.

The third round of the women's singles will be played next Saturday on the Claremont courts, and the third round in the men's singles will be played on Monday. The receipts from the admission fees are for the benefit of the Red Cross.

GOLF CHAMPION BEATEN.
CHICAGO, June 18.—Too much "Gallery" was generally conceded today as being principally responsible for the defeat of Bobby Jones, 15, southern golf champion and his club mate, Perry Adair, at the Flossmoor Country Club yesterday by Charles Evans Jr., amateur champlon, and Robert A. Gardner, former amateur champion. The Chicagoans won four and two before a gallery of 2500.

with Vernon coming back before the slimmest Sunday crowd of several years and winning in the afternoon, 6 to 1.

Two hits and two errors by Griggs in the third inning gave the Bees a lead in the morning game that they held safe with Dubuc pitching air-tight ball in the pinches. Quinn turned the table in the afternoon and held the Bees well in hand all the way while old Long Tom Hughes was given a bumping that chased him off the mound.

A CUT AT 'EM
BRAZIER.

Oakland fans showed their first bit of bad judgment yesterday morning when they jumped on Rod Murphy and proceeded to make life miserable for him because he was off to a bad fielding start. But...

Goodbred's defeat yesterday morning

The morning game yesterday was the fastest of the season on the bay lot, being reeled off in one hour and seventeen minutes. Both pitchers had the best of control, and batters did not wait them out. Baum's only walk came when he got himself into a hole by trying to slip one over on Murray as the latter was kicking over a decision.

This week brings Portland here to tackle the Oaks on the bay lots. Hon. Barry will make his debut as a manager.

when he takes the Seals to Salt Lake City, Los Angeles and Vernon play on the southern lot, and Los Angeles fans will again go without Tuesday baseball. The Angels making the jump from Portland to Los Angeles and not being able to make connections in time to play tomorrow.

NOW FINANCE THE RED CROSS.

Today marks the opening of a week's nation-wide campaign to raise $100,000,000 for the American Red Cross. President Wilson has proclaimed this week one of special privilege for the people to volunteer their assistance in the humanitarian work necessarily connected with the war.

This money contribution is a war measure for the care of our soldiers who may be wounded on the battlefield, or broken in health by the hardships of campaigning. It ought not to be difficult to raise this sum of money, for the people know what the Red Cross does and they do not intend that it shall fail in any respect through the lack of funds. The people have never been niggardly when it came to discharging an obligation of relief for the unfortunate and the suffering. They will not prove so in this instance.

It is through the Red Cross that the people at home may provide for relief for the wounded and sick among their fellowmen who are to fight their battles. Every citizen desires that the work be adequate and efficient. Thousands of men and women have volunteered their personal services and will be at the front and in the rear and base hospitals in the rear of the fighting lines. From the others, who are to remain at home, all that is required is a financial contribution to give these workers of mercy the things with which to do.

We have registered for military service, we have taken the liberty loan bonds; now the third duty, as important as the others, must be discharged. We have only one week in which to become enrolled as a supporter of the humanitarian department of the war. Contributions may be made through the local chapter of the Red Cross.

A special war council has been organized to administer the unprecedented work of relief and all funds are disbursed under the supervision of the War Department. The President has asked the people to do their part by giving $100,000,000. They are expected to answer within the next six days.

SPEED UP ARMY CAMPS.

In the preparation of the first army of 500,000 men, to be drawn from those who registered on June 5, the first necessary step is the construction of sixteen cantonments or military towns. According to the official bulletin published at Washington, the plans for this great undertaking are ready and the materials are in sight.

This is saying a great deal, for the quantities of all the materials required are enormous. Each camp will require over 1300 carloads of lumber, approximately 20,000,000 feet, and 3500 carloads of other materials. Here is what the government, through its official bulletin, promises in connection with the construction of these cantonments:

"These towns can not be the old-fashioned camps. It is not tolerable that they shall not have ample water supply and the best of sewerage, and to have it when the boys arrive, but they must have also streets, a railroad, barracks for the men, and quarters for the officers. Each will be a town of about 1000 houses, as now planned, and all this construction must, as far as essentials go, be ready by the 1st of September. Every resource of the Quartermaster's Department which has charge of this piece of work, is being strained, and to supplement and advise the Quartermaster's Department the Council of National Defense has appointed an emergency construction committee. Probably the ablest men in construction work in this country are gathered in Washington in this advisory capacity. We have here the best of our city planners and water experts. They are here working without pay and most of them nearer twenty-four hours a day than twelve."

Let us hope that these promises will be fulfilled in time to be of maximum usefulness and to prevent harmful delay in the training of the army. To assure this it will be necessary to abandon the system that has been followed in the past, one of interminable delays, insufferable red tape and iniquitous time wasting in the preparation of plans and specifications. The government has itself recognized that it is of the "most vital importance to the men we are to train that this work should be pushed with all the speed and efficiency of which the building forces of this country are capable." Let this thought guide the work of constructing the military cantonments and there will be no cause for complaint.

PREACHING PAN-GERMANISM.

The "peace" terms of the delegation of German Socialists to the Stockholm conference, as made public Saturday, constitute one of the most amazingly stupid attempts to trifle with human intelligence that has ever been perpetrated. The stamp of the Imperial Prussian eagle is on every paragraph of the statement of terms and the spirit of the Pan-German expansionists is observable in every phrase.

It would be difficult to pick out one "condition" as more preposterously inconsistent as another. So for convenience sake we may take the first paragraph as an exemplar of the whole. It reads:

"No indemnity for Belgium, because it would be difficult to determine which belligerent was responsible for damages on the various fronts and a one-sided liability would merely mask an indemnity."

Do the agents of the German government who are masquerading at Stockholm as Socialists imagine that the world has forgotten the confessions of that government? If so, let Herr von Bethmann-Hollweg speak again. He is addressing the Reichstag on August 4, 1914, a few days after the beginning of the world war. This is what he says:

"We are now in a state of necessity and necessity knows no law. Our troops have occupied Luxembourg and perhaps already have entered Belgium territory. Gentlemen, this is a breach of international law. The wrong—I speak openly—the wrong we hereby commit we will try to make good as soon as our military aims have been attained."

"He who is menaced as we are, and is fighting for his highest possession, can only consider how he is to hack his way through."

That was the crude standard of the very crude German chancellor in the first fury of the war. But he confessed the wrong and pledged reparation. Are the Socialists of Germany, at the end of three years and after observing how ruthless and needlessly brutal was the hacking through, to be less honest and less honorable than their chancellor once was? And have they abandoned the position they took at the beginning of the war? In Berlin on June 29, 1914, twenty-eight mass meetings were held to denounce the proposed war and to protest against letting Austrian aggression against Serbia start a world conflagration. On that day the Vorwarts, the great organ of the Socialists, declared that:

"The indications proved beyond a doubt that the camarilla of war lords is working with absolutely unscrupulous means to carry out their fearful designs to start a world-wide fire to devastate Europe."

On July 31st this same paper asserted that the policy of the German government was "utterly without conscience."

In giving their names to the Stockholm declaration of peace conditions the German Socialists have shown that they have repudiated all they ever have said.

With what standards and doctrines are they now aligned? Their opening statement also clears up all doubt as to this question. The German agents at Stockholm have gone back further than Bethmann-Hollweg for their inspiration. They are thinking with the mind of Frederick the Great, who in 1740 gave the keynote of Prussianism to all his successors, in these words:

"The question of right is an affair of ministers. . . . Take what you can; you are never wrong unless you are obliged to give back."

And they have proved themselves apt disciples of Wilhelm II. who with his father and Bismarck, has greatly improved upon the Prussianism of Frederick the Great. They remember the kaiser's Koenigsberg speech of 1910—"Looking upon myself as the instrument of the Lord, regardless of the views and the opinions of the hour, I go my way," and "There is but one master in this country; it is I, and I will bear no other." They agree that "the will of the king is the highest law," and, with their monarch, they know not of moral conscience.

It may in time prove to be an injustice upon the real Socialists of Germany and of other countries to charge them with these brazen and insolent utterances of Pan-Germanism at Stockholm, but it is up to the Socialists to make their protest against the calumny.

Dr. David Starr Jordan, once upon a time connected with Stanford University, an institution recently become celebrated for its Americanism, is in New York pleading the cause of the anti-conscriptonists. He believes an injustice will be committed by sentencing men to prison for violating a federal statute which is yet to be proved constitutional. Sometimes we permit ourselves to think of Dr. Jordan's utterances as merely innocuous mental lumbering. But upon occasion, such as the present case, that is not sufficient to explain his mental and moral processes. To preach defiance of a law that the people have enacted for the safety of the nation while an attempt to have the courts nullify the legislation is contemplated, is an amazing venture for a pacifist. Only in the moral vacuity to be found in the mind of a Prussian militarist may endorsement of such an undertaking be expected.

Mayor Rolph cut out of the budget a $15,000 item to maintain a system of expediting the accounts of municipal officials and the newspapers of San Francisco refer to his act as "slashing the budget."

NOTES and COMMENT

"Long live, Greece, united and free," concludes the proclamation of the protecting powers who forced the abdication of the royal husband of Queen Sophie of the house of Hohenzollern. There is now some hope of a reconciliation of the Hellenes for the preservation of a self-respecting Greece.

The U. S. district attorney's office in San Francisco has confessed that the first indictments drawn against the collector of internal revenue are faulty and a new series of indictments will be asked. Recalling the errors in the indictments in the German conspiracy cases, it is appropriate to express the hope that in time the federal attorney will learn how to draw a charge which will stick.

Air raids on undefended English towns kill many women and children and no military effectives. Therefore they are useful in keeping alive the spirit of hate which the military dictators have engendered. It will be claimed by the Prussian staff that this is military necessity.

Give the palm for a cruel disposition to the woman who married her husband to "spite" him.

In the news columns is an account of how the people of Larkspur have been drinking stolen water for several years and in the society page this heading: "Larkspur girl taken as bride at service." What are the people of this exclusive little hamlet coming to?

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Los Angeles dies hard. It hates to allow anything for anybody else. Los Angeles is probably the most envious, provincial, parochial, back-settlement "metropolis" on the planet. But Los Angeles will profit by its experience. A few more details of Los Angeles aspirations will chasten a too bumptious public spirit, they will serve to enforce self-abnegation, and, finally, perhaps, a broader humanity, a more generous spirit will pervade the community. This is the hope of San Diego, whose citizens have for many years observed the petty disposition of Los Angeles with unfeigned regret. San Diego could never love her sister city, but San Diego would be pleased to respect Los Angeles if that city would only assume the virtues of dignity and self-respect that should characterize the outward seeming at least of even an "inland metropolis."—San Diego Tribune.

Members of the Scavengers' Union of San Francisco who attended the union's annual picnic at Fernbrook Park on May 13, netted the county $200 in speed fines. A Ghezzi, J. Valla, J. Caraceni were among the many who paid the toll for fast riding at the rate of 42 miles an hour. Miss Kate Fields was fined $20 and Mrs. Wm. Ede was fined $10.—Township Register.

The Southern Pacific, through the Pacific Fruit Express, is arranging equipment to expedite the movement of California potatoes and onions this year. Reports from southern California indicate that the potato acreage for 1917 will be about 11,000 acres, or about 2650 cars, against last year's figures of 3600 acres, or 871 cars. Estimates for northern California river district, near Stockton, are about 25,000 acres in potatoes, 1215 figures being about the same. Onions for 1917 in northern California show about 10,000 acres, while in 1916 the acreage was only about 3600. Southern California will show a big increase in potato production and northern California a big onion supply.—Ventura Free Press.

The present situation in Congress and the vital interest all the nation now feels, or will soon be forced to feel, in tax matters, will no doubt result in a national awakening to the fact that the American people follow no clear principle in taxation. Our tax system is a hit and miss, happy-go-lucky hodge-podge of grabs and dodges. We grab for revenue wherever we fancy we see a chance to get it without getting our knuckles skinned. It follows that in nearly every case the arm of the tax collector is either parried or, by some clever trick, the burden of the tax is passed on to someone less able to resist.—Atlatadero News.

WAR POETRY

An Englishman—E. B. Osborn—has undertaken the unique literary task of sifting the immense output of verse written by men that have obtained the inspiration of their poetic expression in the storm and stress of actual war. The material from which selection must be made is vast. And much of this war poetry, judging from the selections that have been given advance publication in the London Outlook, is of high quality. It appears that in every branch of the British war service poets have been born.

It might be thought that the flying warriors, the air pilots, would be expressing emotions with something in way of newness to the thrill chords. There have been some poems from the air fleets, but relatively few. The naval service is also far less prolific in poetic output than the land service. It is commented that the sea poets cannot break themselves loose from an imitation of Kipling. Some of the verses sent back from the fighting lines deal with the terrible new use of war in any of its phases, but with the peaceful scenes back home; and this is natural enough. Poetry born of experiences in the great war is but in its beginning. Distance lends enchantment to the imagination. When the dreadful crush and carnage of the war is ended, many who are registering impressions in such a swirl and contention that they cannot find lucid expression, will see as in a vision and will tell in thrilling verse about the war. Honor, there is reason for believing, was a soldier in the Trojan war, but there is also reason for the belief that the Iliad was composed reminiscently and not during the stress of the war.—Baltimore American.

THE MOTOR TRUCK.

Commonplace but of extraordinary usefulness is the motor truck. A young and now expanding industry, of vital importance to the country's welfare, may be taxed to death by Congress in ignorance of the important part the truck is playing in modern times. The motor truck is not a luxury. It is a freight conveyor. Given a fair opportunity, it will prove its enormous value. It marks the world's progress just as the electric light has replaced the tallow dip, the steamboat superseded the packet boat, the trolley car the horse car and the railroad the stage coach. In other countries its commercial value is known and appreciated and all trucks used industrially, available for war purposes, enjoy the benefit of a subsidy. While the freight car shortage is such a serious hardship, and the necessities of life and war materials are demanding greater transportation facilities, the motor truck is proving an inestimable blessing. It has no substitute.

In conveying men and munitions quickly to points inaccessible by railroads, along our extended coasts and from place to place in the interior, in the stress of war, motor trucks would be of incalculable service. If invaders should threaten us we would feel the urgent need of every truck our factories could supply.

In Europe motor trucks are saving cities and winning battles. In our country they are helping to solve the problem of the high cost of living. They are replacing horses that must be conscripted for cavalry and they have put the old army wagon in the discard.

In the evolution of warfare military officers find the automobile indispensable in expediting communications from point to point and no less are they finding motor trucks indispensable in conveying munitions, men and supplies.

Let us learn the lesson that experience has taught abroad. Let us do everything to build up our motor-truck industry. It has enormous value in peace. It is priceless in time of war.—Leslie's.

ANOTHER PETER NEEDED.

What Russia needs is a great popular figure who can assume for the time the task of real leadership. The country ultimately must have such a man or in all human probability come to greater grief. Unfortunately, the kind of a personage required has not yet shown himself. Cromwell became Lord protector of England only after a long career of increasing prominence. Bonaparte was a poverty-stricken general of artillery, earning his spurs before he became first consul and ultimately emperor. Both of these men emerged gradually. The kind of a leader Russia needs is generally born of a season of national travail which gives opportunity and vision, and chastens the country into a mood for receiving him. He must have the organizing power of a Napoleon, but such power must come from a source that will not interfere with the democratic tendencies of the nation.—Detroit Free Press.

ORDER OUSTS SCOTT FROM U. S. SERVICE

TRIBUNE BUREAU
643 MARKET ST.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—President Woodrow Wilson, in an executive order issued today, dismissed from the federal service Joseph J. Scott, collector of the internal revenue for the district of Northern California and Nevada, who was suspended on April 17, and who is now under indictment charged with the embezzlement of government funds. Scott was suspended from office April 17 by order of Commissioner of Internal Revenue W. H. Osborne of Washington following the expiring of his books. On May 15 he was indicted on twenty counts, and his brother and chief deputy, A. Clyde Scott, was indicted on two counts. Last Friday Joseph Scott was again indicted on two counts and will appear before Federal Judge M. T. Doelling on Thursday.

SCOTT BLAMES ENEMIES.
Scott would say nothing today as to his dismissal from the government service, but his attorney, Timothy Healy, in his behalf, said that political enemies had accomplished his downfall.

"Political enemies of Joseph Scott now undoubtedly feel satisfied," said Healy. "The criminal prosecution which Scott is now suffering was designed merely to bring about the result achieved in this executive order. The objects of the political enemies have now been attained."

"However, the trial of the case in the United States Court will prove without a shadow of a doubt that Scott had conducted his office in a businesslike manner, and his downfall has resulted from his refusal to yield to the demands of political incompetents. His complete innocence will be established."

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGED.

Scott is accused of the embezzlement of $3500 in revenue stamps and a total of $7515.15 in money. He was collector of internal revenue for three and a half years, having been appointed by President Wilson as a direct reward, it is understood, as secretary of the Woodrow Wilson League of California.

He was under a bond of $245,000 and during his term of office had accumulated, according to his counsel, $44,000,000 in government money.

STEAL DRUGS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—Drugs and chemicals valued at many hundreds of dollars were stolen early today from the warehouses of the Coffin-Reddington Drug Company here. Two men, one disguised as an A. D. T. messenger, summoned the night watchman of the store, and when he admitted them, bound and gagged him, escaping with the loot.

SEEK "BIGGER GAME"

Charles Belgeri encountered two philanthropic highwaymen while he was returning to his home at 918 Forty-fourth street last night. The men, after searching his pockets, returned to him $1.25 with the remark that they would "look for bigger game," according to a report to the police today. There is no further report to indicate that they found what they were searching for.

U.C. Hospital Unit on Way to Europe's Trenches

College Men, With Flag Presented by Veterans, En Route to Battlefields

The pang of parting and the poignancy of mental suffering of those who have to wait at home while loved ones go bravely forth to meet danger and death, made tense the atmosphere at the Oakland hotel this morning when the University of California ambulance unit of thirty-six members embarked on the Pacific Limited for their training quarters at Allentown, Pennsylvania. There was no waving of flags, and a parting "Oski" yell was the only demonstration of enthusiasm, but the young faces of the volunteers were alight with a fire of quiet determination and purpose that spoke volumes for their devotion to the cause of their country and of democracy.

Fathers smiled proudly with tear-dimmed eyes as they pressed the hands of sons departing for the field of service. Sisters laughed bravely with tears glistening on their cheeks as they spoke their farewells, and mothers sobbed unreservedly as they folded their boys in their arms in a last embrace. Across an ocean and across a continent, the hand of war stretched out to touch hearts that contracted with fear at the thought of the grim realities of the battlefield.

FIRE OF DEVOTION.
The fires of courage and devotion to duty glowed in the eyes of the departing youths and gave to their clean-cut faces that look of consecration which revealed the strength of their purpose. That purpose held them firm and unshaken in the hour of parting and gave them the roles of comforters encouraging those they were leaving behind.

Although it was not unfurled for display, there was with the unit a silk flag which will go with the California boys wherever their duty may call them. It was in the custody of Myron Penfield, son of John W. Penfield of Berkeley, and had been presented to the ambulance unit by Lookout Mountain Post, Grand Army of the Republic, and the Western Relief Corps auxiliary to that post.

Those composing the ambulance unit now speeding eastward for training are:

MANY IN UNIT.

First sergeant, Kenneth L. Blanchard of Berkeley; second sergeant, Roswell G. Ham, instructor in English in the University of California; corporal, Harold L. Hyde of Watsonville; clerks, Raynor E. Gimbal of Oakland and Harry L. Hansen of Berkeley; orderlies, E. Marshall Maslin of Watsonville and Arthur McLean of Berkeley; drivers, Norman B. Stern of Berkeley, Leroy M. Gimbal of Oakland, George M. Lindsay of Berkeley, Frank H. Wilcox of Ontario, Clarkson Crane of San Francisco, Harry W. Thompson of Stockton, Donald L. Campbell of Berkeley, Lindsay Crawford of Oakland, Edward W. Everett of Nevada City, John T. Donnell of Los Angeles, Lafayette Paine, E. C. Overton of Alhambra, Charles F. Roeth of Oakland, William W. Sealey of Princeton University, Harry L. Wiley of Porterville, E. R. Thomas of Berkeley, Ben Cox of Stanford University, Myron Penfield of Berkeley, Fred Dubring of Berkeley, George J. Hotaling of San Francisco, William W. Sprague of Menlo Park, Vernon G. Garrett of Berkeley, W. Paul Thomas of Berkeley, Harvey L. Smith of Stockton, chief mechanic, Lawrence E. Libby of Berkeley, and E. Osborn.

At Allentown they will join the unit from Stanford University, and after several weeks of instruction in the training camp, the corps will sail for France.

JAPANESE ISSUE HAS BEEN CLEARED

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The tempest created in Japan's official report by Secretary Lansing's recent note to China had subsided today.

Efforts to get from the State Department an explanation as to who had adjusted the matter were unsuccessful. The department refused to ascertain who had bungled in the first instance.

Great Britain's answer to the American request that the British and the United States send a note to China, according to Secretary Lansing, said the British themselves could give out their text. He would not. He added that cable summaries from abroad were correct.

There seems to be little doubt that Japan had become angered through a misunderstanding of the real course of action contemplated by this country.

PEKING, Friday, June 18.—General Chang Hsun now is dictator. President Li Yuan Hung being little more than a figurehead. The insurgents are calling a convention at Tientsin for the purpose of forming a provisional government headed by the dictator.

General Chang Hsun's motives are obscure, but it is believed he is attempting to obtain from the former leaders of the Manchurian dynasty an agreement for restoration of the empire. He has urged the President to form a cabinet as soon as possible, suggesting that a provisional government be formed in the meantime.

Southern leaders who are congregating in Canton assert they will fight for maintenance of constitutional rights.

WOMAN DROPS DEAD.

Mrs. Mary Brian, 50 years old, living at 1425 Thirtieth street, dropped dead while waiting for a street car at Hollis and Fort streets this morning. The body was removed to the morgue. According to her son, James Brian, she has been suffering from heart trouble for some time.

NEEDLES, 120, IS HOTTEST COAST SPOT

Warm weather continues over the entire Pacific Coast today and seven cities and towns report temperatures reaching a maximum of 100 or over in Oakland today. The temperature was 86. The hottest place of the western slope today is Needles, where the highest reported temperature is 120 degrees. The lowest at Needles last night was 72, a drop of 48 points in the mercury.

Pomona, with a maximum of 116, showed the most noteworthy difference between high and low. The mercury dropped to 56, allowing the residents to cool breathers for the night's sleep. Besides Pomona the other warmest communities were Riverside and San Bernardino, which also registered 116. The other hot spots among the coast cities were: Redlands, 114; Paso Robles, 114; Santa Barbara, 111; Yuba, 111; Phoenix, 110; Fresno, 106; Los Angeles, 106; San Luis Obispo, 106; Merced, 104; Stockton, 104; Red Bluff, 102; Sacramento, 100.

The forecast is for continued warm weather throughout California.

NOT HARMFUL HERE.
Unless the present hot spell is prolonged it will have no harmful effect on fruit or grain crops in Alameda county and farmers should the heat continue for some time, however, it may tend to shrivel up the apricots and the barley to an extent, according to C. H. Worrel, manager of the Meek ranch in Hayward. Farmers have no fear that the warm weather will last so long as to do any harm.

With the exception of a few of the Royal Anne cherries, all the cherry crop is now gathered. While the hay crop was benefited by the cool, cloudy weather which prevailed several weeks ago, it will not be damaged by the hot weather, according to Worrel.

CROP LOSS BIG.

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—Crop lost that is assuming serious proportions appears today to be the greatest damage of a heat wave in Southern California unparalleled in weather bureau annals and which reached its climax here yesterday by setting a record of 105 degrees. In the "back country" it was hotter. San Bernardino reported 118 1/2, the highest point in Southern California. Beans, sugar beets, berry and walnut crops are damaged.

The bean crop in some sections, notably Orange county, has been damaged to some extent, but growers are unable to estimate the extent of the damage. The loss of sugar beets, not exceed 10 per cent. Ventura growers claim no injury has been done to their beans by the heat.

In the interior valleys some damage has been done to the crops of young orange and lemon groves.

ENFORCE LAW, IS PLEA OF FARMERS

That violations of the injurious laws in this county and throughout the State are seriously interfering with the efficiency of agricultural laborers is the complaint of the Farmers' Protective League, which today has urged the board of supervisors asking its co-operation, particularly during the period of the war, in keeping up a strict surveillance.

The board at its meeting this morning referred the communication to the County Council for defense after endorsing a resolution adopted by the board of supervisors, which was enclosed in the letter from the league. Following is a copy of the letter:

"Dear Sir:—A mass meeting held in Sacramento, composed of representative farmers from different parts of the state, which meeting was called together to consider the present agricultural labor shortage and to devise ways of most efficiently having crops with means at hand, one of three resolutions adopted is as follows:

"Whereas, A large number of saloons in California persistently violate the law prohibiting the sale of liquor to intoxicated patrons;

"And whereas, The efficiency and health of many farm laborers is materially impaired by the lawlessness of certain saloons;

"Be it resolved, 'That the Farmers' Protective League, as a war measure, call upon all County Councils of Defense, County Boards of Supervisors and town governments to enforce existing laws and to cancel every license that is a menace to agricultural efficiency."

"The Farmers' Protective League was asked and authorized to follow up this resolution, known as resolution number three, hence calls upon the various county and local governments to the end that your attention may be called to the necessity of enforcing existing laws and otherwise regulate saloons in prohibition of the sale of liquor to intoxicated persons. As a war measure, and in the interest of agricultural efficiency."

"Thus, with the intention of carrying out the spirit of this meeting, this letter and resolution is most respectfully submitted to you."

"FARMERS' PROTECTIVE LEAGUE
"By C. A. Bodwell, Jr., manager for executive committee."

THREE HURT WHEN WAGON IS WRECKED

BERKELEY, June 18.—The mad dash of the horses attached to a heavily-loaded wagon on the University of California campus this morning resulted in probably fatal injuries to John Cosby, 401 Bush street, San Francisco, serious injuries to D. J. Griffin, of 1113 Dwight way, and Lee Young, of 2130 Shattuck avenue; the killing of one of the horses in the team and the pulling up of the wagon in the bed of Strawberry creek at the termination of Dana street, at the edge of the campus.

Cosby is a Roosevelt hospital with a fractured skull and other injuries. The runaway occurred at 10 o'clock this morning. Young was driving and Griffin rode beside him on the seat. The wagon was heavily loaded with timber removed from North Hall, which is in course of demolition. On the grade by Harvard gymnasium the team became frightened and started to run away. Near the Dana-street entrance they struck Cosby, throwing him several feet away. At the same moment Griffin leaped from his seat. At Dana street a wooden fence guarded the twenty-foot drop into Strawberry creek bed. Through this the maddened team charged, the wagon completely overturning in the descent and horses and wagon landing in the lumbered mess beneath.

The horses were thrown from their seats as the coping broke and escaped with minor injuries. One of the horses was killed. The three men were removed to the student infirmary and Griffith and Cosby were taken from there to Roosevelt hospital, where it was found that Griffith had sustained a fractured ankle, while Cosby's skull was fractured and he had apparently suffered internal injuries as well. Little hope for his recovery was held.

SORENSEN WILL BUY COMPANY FROM HIMSELF

Andrew Sorensen of 1922 Irving avenue is tired of being a corporation. For one year he has tried the experiment of conducting the smallest water company in the world—the East Oakland Water and Electric Company, capitalized at $25,000, and buying a distributing system consisting of one tank and pipe service covering some six blocks. Now he has received the permission of the State Railroad Commission to purchase the corporation from himself, and become sole owner of the business—in the good old style of the days when trusts were unknown.

On June 14, 1915, the Railroad Commission authorized Sorensen to transfer his water distributing system in East Oakland to the East Oakland Water and Electric Company for 6000 shares of stock. Sorensen soon filed an application for the transfer of the corporation in corporation methods of business were too burdensome, and he applied for permission to purchase 6000 shares of the stock of the company. This application was granted, and the company is authorized to sell and Sorensen to purchase the water system of the company.

BROKER INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

A local realty broker had a narrow escape from death, a San Francisco man may lose his leg, and a stenographer was badly lacerated on the face and hands in three accidents which marked the Sunday record of motoring activities.

Charles Armstrong, 522 Twenty-eighth street, endeavored to outspeed a Southern Pacific train west of Niles early yesterday afternoon. According to Armstrong's story, which he told at the Emergency Hospital after the accident, he heard the whistle and did not see the train. The next he knew he was in the air with a wrecked machine.

Armstrong's 12-year-old nephew, Arthur Perry, was with him but escaped injury. Armstrong is well known in this city. He is a realty broker.

Salvatore Bentera, 315 Lombard street, San Francisco, was taken to the County Hospital seriously hurt as the result of an accident which occurred at Havenscourt on the Foothill boulevard. He collided, while on a motorcycle, with James Mack, 2529 Ette street, who was driving a delivery truck for the National Ice Cream Company. Bentera received injuries to his right leg which necessitated amputation.

Miss Kate B. Erickson, a stenographer, 1609 Grove street, accompanied by George D. Lanning, a musician, 879 Arlington avenue, was hurt in an accident at the same point, when a motorcycle on which they were riding was struck by an automobile driven by A. Saprio, a Nevada tourist. Miss Erickson received lacerations of the face and body. Her companion escaped without minor bruises. Both were treated at the county hospital.

DOCK & DECK

The lumber steamer Del Norte is again on the present City Run after having been overhauled at Moore & Scott's.

The old bark Alden Bess, once a motion picture ship whose adventures have been shown on the screen in almost every city of the country, is in this port, having recently bought by Maynard and coming up from San Pedro under the tow of Tug Samson. She is anchored in the stream while arrangements are being made to have her surveyed and repaired for use as a lumber carrying barge. It is said that her condition is more than fairly good and that she made a bargain when he bought her for less than $4,000.

WHALE MEAT IS NOT FISH.

Those who are so hungry that "they would eat a whale" are being afforded the opportunity as whale meat is now on the market in many places.

"Whales and porpoises are mammals like cattle and sheep, and their flesh is meat," says the bureau.

meat and not fish. In texture and appearance it resembles beef, though the color is darker red, and the flavor is closer to that of meat than any other fish. It is devoid of all fatty taste, so probable that it will soon be obtainable fresh, corned and canned, and it is recommended to those who have opportunity to purchase it.

"Whales are taken at several shore stations on the Pacific Coast, where their blubber (fat) is rendered for oil and their bones and flesh used to some extent for fertilizer, while their skins appear to be adapted for tanning into leather.

"As these stations take a considerable ity of this valuable food has been going to waste, and the fishermen have been converting into fertilizer a product that are probably ten times greater value to them when sold for food.

Whaling on the Atlantic side, once the most important industry, has declined greatly, but there are still some whale whalers. There is no difference in the food value of the Atlantic and Pacific whales, but the Atlantic whales are more valuable. There is a regular fishery for them at Cape Hatteras, where they are valued principally for their oil and to some extent for their meat. The Government has a whaling station at Cape Hatteras, where the whaling is supervised by all who tasted it."

It is stated that most of the American whalers in the submarine zone are equipped with a catapult arrangement for launching their harpoon line. This catapults thus propelled rises in the air several submarines have been destroyed and others scared away.

In connection with the strengthening of the merchant fleet of the Entente powers, the Kawasaki Dockyard Company of Kobe, has received an order from Great Britain to build fourteen freight steamers. The individual tonnage ranges from 2,000 to 12,000 tons and the total value will be about $25,000,000. Sixty-two steamers with an aggregate

DENT H. ROBERT CALLED BY DEATH

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—Succumbing to heart disease from which he had suffered for ten years, Dent Hayes Robert, publisher of the San Francisco Examiner and one of the foremost newspaper men of the United States, died in his home in Coronado last evening at half past six o'clock. His death removes one of the most active workers of the West, not only in the publishing field but in the larger sphere of civic labor.

Robert was born 53 years ago in St. Louis, a member of a distinguished Southern family. His father, the Rev. P. G. Robert, a Virginian, was a chaplain during the Civil war in the Confederate service, and after the conflict became pastor of the Church of the Holy Communion in St. Louis.

Having received an education in the schools and colleges of his native city, Robert entered the newspaper profession at the age of 21 on the Globe-Democrat. Thence he came to the Post-Dispatch, where he became Sunday editor. In 1897 he went to New York City and joined the Hearst forces as city editor of the Journal. After holding this position for a time and acting as night editor on the New York American, he came to California in 1898 and became news editor of the Examiner. In 1900 he became managing editor and later was made publisher and general Pacific Coast representative of the Hearst publications.

Robert started the Los Angeles Examiner and firmly established it as one of the leading coast newspapers. In addition to his newspaper activities, he was ever occupied in civic enterprises. He was one of the men responsible for the establishment of the municipal street railway in San Francisco. He was the originator of the idea of the Portola festival, and one of the directors and moving forces in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

The strain of rehabilitation following the earthquake and fire of 1906 brought upon Robert a chronic weakness of the heart from which he never recovered. He went to Bad Nauheim in Bavaria twice in search of health. He was in Belgium at the outbreak of the present war.

A little more than a year ago at the earnest request of William Randolph Hearst, Robert went to Coronado and built a home there. For some months the southern climate seemed to benefit him, but for some weeks past his friends had realized that the end was near.

He is survived by a widow, Elizabeth Woodson Robert, and a brother, Douglas Robert of Los Angeles. The funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

H. W. WANAMAKER DEAD IN OAKLAND

Members of the Masonic order will conduct the funeral Wednesday morning of Henry Wilfred Wanamaker, cousin of John Wanamaker, the noted Philadelphia merchant, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bessie M. Schaffer, 3513 West street, yesterday afternoon at the age of 57 years. Heart trouble caused his death. The body will be buried at 10 o'clock.

Wanamaker arrived here only three days ago from Baltimore, where he was a pressed brick manufacturer. He was prominent in fraternal circles and was a thirty-second degree member of the Masons.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sarah L. Wanamaker, and his daughter, Mrs. Schaffer, and one son, Louis E. Wanamaker, who live in this city.

She is a graduate of the University of Chicago, for years associated with the University of New Mexico and now affiliated with the domestic science department of the University of California. Her lectures and demonstrations cover modern methods of maintaining kitchen economies and have been of great value in helping to develop the high cost of living. These lectures and demonstrations are all free.

The sum realized from the tournament will be used to send the drill teams, drum corps and band to the first annual Moose celebration which will be held at Stockton, July 3 and 4th.

Included in the committee of arrangements are: I. H. Spiro, chairman; E. J. Greene, J. O. Dohman, J. Bernquist, Lew Jones, R. Love, F. W. Enos, A. Vander Nallem, Jr., Lee Bertillon, R. Davis, W. J. Hamilton, A. B. Moffitt, A. J. Donovan, J. Treager and H. R. Elder.

FEUD IS REVIVED

Members of the Sullivan family were searching for Leon Bryant of the Hollow clan, who was accused of the killing. Both families were going about armed and further trouble was expected.

MAN MYSTERIOUS

J. G. Davis, 814 Castro street was removed to his home from the Providence Hospital today suffering from head injuries which brought about a futile police investigation last night. Davis was taken to the hospital by two men who immediately left without giving any information. Davis refused to discuss his case, preferring to report made by Inspector Richard Feely to Captain Agnew.

MANY INVENTORS

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Inventions and suggestions for destroying submarines and preventing shipping from coming in from the west so rapidly that the naval consulting board announced today that it had established a branch office at 129 West Adams street, Chicago, to receive and consider suggestions of inventors from inventors living west of Pittsburgh.

"WATER DANCE" FINISHED WITH DIP INTO BAY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—Caught by a stream of water liberated by a bursting hose, Falke Carlson, fireman on the fireboat David Scammon, was hurled into the air and juggled about like a ball in a fountain. This for a minute or so and then he was hurled into the bay.

The first spurt of water as it struck Carlson caused him to lose his footing and he fell. When he went overboard he was unable to swim by reason of his injury, and but for the aid of comrades would have drowned. He was taken to the Harbor hospital and then to the Marine hospital.

Carlson was testing a hose attached to the city's auxiliary water system when the accident occurred.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF FORGING WILL

SAN DIEGO, June 18.—Long prominently involved in various court entanglements throughout the state, Mrs. Sarah J. Tedford, who about a year ago injected herself into the contest for the Keith estate in San Francisco, is once more in the limelight. Charged with forging, Mrs. Tedford, who is 70 years old, has been arrested and is lodged in the county jail, unable to give bail.

The complaint upon which Mrs. Tedford was arrested was sworn to by Virch Bruschi, who charges Mrs. Tedford with having forged a will which she recently filed in superior court here, and which purported to be that of her brother, Horatio N. Thompson, who died several years ago, leaving an estate valued at $40,000.

No will was presented at the time of the brother's death, and Mrs. Tedford was arrested in procuring letters of administration. Recently, however, she renewed her application for letters of administration and at the same time introduced a will, now termed a forgery, in which she was supposedly given a large share of the estate.

DRUIDS GATHER

PLACERVILLE, June 18.—Six hundred persons arrived here today to attend the State Grand Grove and Grand Circle of the United Ancient Order of Druids, who opened sessions today. Fresno, Santa Cruz, Richmond and Sacramento all are seeking the next meeting.

Tomorrow the delegates will motor to Coloma, where gold was discovered in California. A public reception will be held tonight, tomorrow night the grand ball will be held and Thursday night a banquet.

The first Druid lodge in California was organized in Placerville sixty-five years ago.

MURDERS WOMAN

STOCKTON, June 18.—Ida Russo, mistress of the Teacup Hotel, a lodging house in the Italian quarter, was murdered by a man known only as "Joe" who escaped immediately after the crime. The police told the police that "Joe" had come to the place from Siskiyou county last Friday and had spent money freely on the Russo woman. They say he went to her room and soon afterward they heard her scream for help and saw her run into the hall with blood flowing from her throat. She died while on the operating table at a hospital.

TOW-BOAT FIRM IS TAKEN OVER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—The Pacific Freight Handlers' Company, a new corporation in which many of the stockholders are large shipping concerns on the coast, have bought the towboat business established by Henry Peterson. From early days this feature of the San Francisco waterfront has been in the hands of men who have grown up with the business, using their earnings as capital.

That port profits should also be shared by them, is evidently what the deep water shipping men believe, for the incorporators of the new company include W. E. Gerber, Jr., C. L. Daly, Joseph Friedlander, Harry Levenson, A. G. Conyn, G. W. Birdsell, George E. Billings, Robert Dollar, Rowes & Andrews, Dalfour, Guthrie & Co., San Francisco Stevedoring Co., George Hind, Ed Christensen, Harbert Fishbacker, Union Iron Works and J. E. Laidlaw.

Of the capital stock, $77,000 is to be used in the purchase from Henry C. Peterson of his launch, towboat and barge business, consisting of nine boats and moorings, seven barges, the office, pier and equipment used in connection with the business.

VICTIM OF WRECK

He was John Johansen. The investigation by the Navy Department has been concluded and the findings sent to San Francisco.

HOTEL IS ROBBED

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—Two men robbed the office of the exclusive Leighton hotel here early today when they "got the drop" on the night watchman and forced the clerk to open the safe. They escaped with $1400 in cash, a receipt for a liberty loan bond and checks amounting to $135.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit is the best food tonic because it supplies everything the body needs with the least tax on the digestion. It is a vim-making, energy-creating food, containing all the nutritive elements in the whole wheat grain with just enough bran to keep the bowels healthy and active. Two of these Biscuits with milk make a nourishing meal at a cost of a few cents. Made at Oakland, California.

Self-Starters

THE demand of modern business is for self-starters —for young men and young women who get under way by their own power.

Business men, heads of institutions which are important factors in commercial and industrial activities, have no time to instruct beginners in the fundamentals of business.

Such men do not want employees who do not possess sufficient ambition to fit themselves for entering business life. They expect an applicant for a position to be fully equipped for his or her work.

Heald students are trained to fit what business men want in office employees. Heald graduates are built according to the specifications of business men.

Heald's Business College cannot keep pace with the demand for graduates. Each month it has more calls than it can fill. There is a splendid opportunity for you in a good-paying position on the completion of a Heald course.

Luscious Raisins! Mellow Tobacco!

(flavor-gifted by Father Time)
To Father Time and Old Sol, we owe the luscious raisin. Time-curing preserves the ripened grape beyond the harvest time—in raisin form.

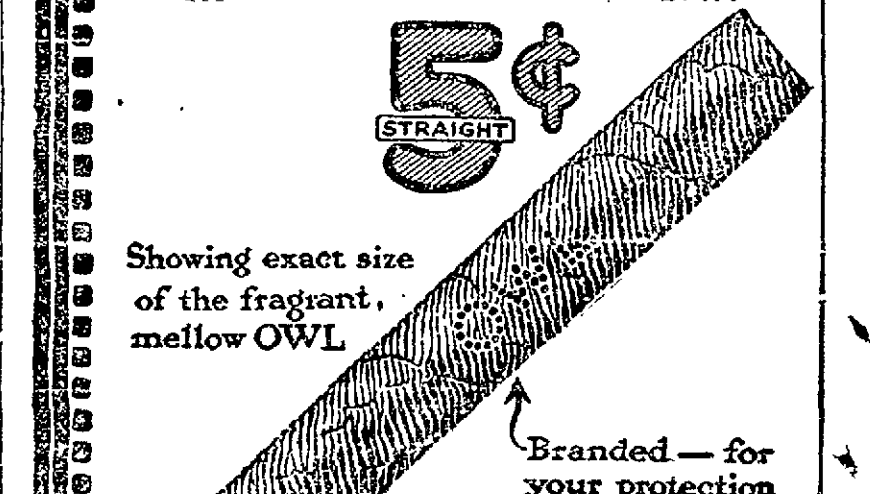

Mellow tobacco, too, owes a debt to Father Time. And a greater debt than raisins. For raisins must cure but a few days. But it takes long months to time-cure tobacco to the fragrance point.

That is why OWL Cigar fragrance demands that we store up a leaf-reserve worth $1,000,000 or more. That is why our curing experts never allow any of their watched-over leaf to be made into OWL Cigars until it is "ready" in OWL fragrance and mellowness.

Yes, smokers, you owe the fragrance of your OWL Cigar to time-curing—careful time-curing of selected leaf.

Why don't you buy an OWL Cigar and redeem the OWL "fragrance pledge"? 5c does it at the nearest Cigar Store.
